IodiTech is a broad range iodine derivatives manufacturer operating out of Kansas City, Missouri. The convenient Midwestern shipping location provides resources required to be a reliable and trustworthy supplier. IodiTech's specialty products required a specialty contractor in Jonkman Construction. The tenant finish requirements went far beyond walls, water coolers and subdivided work spaces. This massive warehouse renovation centered around an extensive and complex system of process piping to assist in their industry leading manufacturing processes. Meeting and exceeding the construction requirements for nylon production, pharmaceutical manufacturing, feed additives and metal finishing to bath salts and iodine derivatives is what Jonkman delivered to IodiTech.
